MD Precision Conservative Index Portfolio™

Management Report of Fund Performance (December 31, 2025)

Investment Objectives and Strategies

The MD Precision Conservative Index Portfolio (the “Fund”) is a strategic asset allocation fund with the objective to preserve investment value and generate income. The Fund will invest primarily in index mutual funds managed by MD Financial Management Inc. and exchange traded index funds with an emphasis on fixed income index funds for capital preservation and income generation with some exposure to equity index funds for potential capital growth. The Fund may also invest in other non-affiliated index mutual funds and directly in fixed-income securities, cash or cash equivalents.

The Fund’s principal investment strategy is strategic asset allocation. The Fund assets will be invested according to the target weightings for the Fund, which may change at our discretion, but are generally expected to follow an approximate allocation of 69% fixed income, 9% Canadian equity, 11% U.S. equity, 8% International equity and 3% Emerging Markets equity.

The Fund may not invest in companies that manufacture tobacco or tobacco-related products or cannabis or cannabis related products.

Risk

The investment risks associated with this Fund are detailed in the Simplified Prospectus.

The Fund is designed for an investor seeking a single-decision investment fund who is willing to accept a low level of investment risk with exposure to all major asset classes. The Fund is suitable for an investment time horizon of three or more years.

Results of Operations

For the period ended December 31, 2025, the Fund had a total return of 9.1% (Series F).

The Canadian bond market, as represented by the FTSE Canada Universe Bond Index, returned 2.6% for the 12-month period ending December 31, 2025. The 10-year Government of Canada yield dipped as low as 2.8% in March and as high 3.6% in July before settling around 3.4% at year-end. The Bank of Canada (BoC) continued its easing cycle with 25 basis points (bps) rate cuts at its first two meetings of the year in January and March. It then paused the rate cutting cycle, holding the rate steady for 3 straight meetings, before delivering two additional 25 bps cuts in September and October, bringing the policy rate down to 2.25% at year end. The tariff announcements by the Trump Administration throughout the year resulted in increased volatility in credit spreads. That volatility was especially pronounced in March and April. Investment grade and high yield credit spreads, as measured by ICE BofA Canadian corporate indices OAS (Option-Adjusted Spread) spiked during that period based on elevated concerns about global trade flows. Ultimately, strong corporate fundamentals and high demand for corporate bonds (Investment Grade issuers in particular) caused spreads to settle into a tighter, lower range to end the year.

In the United States, the 10-year Treasury yield reached as high as 4.8% early in the year and dipped down to 3.9% in October. The Trump Administration’s tariff announcements also drove significant volatility in bond markets. The Federal Reserve held rates steady in the first half of the year, before resuming its own easing policy with three 25 bps cut in the second half of 2025. These cuts reduced the key policy rate to 3.75% at year end. Its path was initially guided by higher market volatility and concerns about inflation.

The Canadian equity market ended the 12 month period in positive territory, with the S&P/TSX Composite Index returning 31.7%. The macroeconomic backdrop evolved in a broadly supportive direction for risk assets: inflation cooled, policy became more accommodative and external conditions stabilized, even as growth remained moderate.

Global equities advanced over the 12-month period as the MSCI World Index (C$) returned 15.9%. The first half 2025 witnessed President Trump introduce tariffs to the world and saw investors shift their focus and assets to international markets as U.S. equities whipsawed from positive to negative back to positive territory. The sentiment was this would send inflation and interest rates up, weaken consumer and business confidence and trigger a recession.

Canada’s newly elected Liberal government faced challenges in managing U.S. trade relations, while policy shifts under the Carney administration aimed to attract foreign investment and diversify trade beyond the U.S. In the meantime, exemptions under the Canada – United States – Mexico Agreement (CUSMA) kept most Canadian exports duty free.

A pivotal and constructive development was the Bank of Canada’s continuation of its easing cycle, lowering its policy rate by 100 basis points over 2025 in response to easing inflation and contained financial stability risks. This helped reduce borrowing costs for households and businesses. The shift toward lower rates was particularly encouraging for interest sensitive sectors and helped alleviate concerns around the mortgage renewal cycle, improving the outlook for the broader economy.

Real GDP, which had softened earlier in the year, saw a modest pickup as exports and household spending gradually improved from subdued levels, though overall growth remained below trend. Labour markets cooled from very tight conditions, with unemployment drifting higher; this reduced wage price pressures and created room for policy to lean more toward supporting growth.

Canada benefited from global macro forces, including strong commodity prices – particularly precious metals – amid geopolitical uncertainty. Robust commodities and supportive interest rate policy helped offset subdued real economic growth and fueled a strong equity market rally in 2025.

Precious metals were the standout asset class for the period. Gold dominated the headlines as international central banks continued to diversify their reserve holdings into the precious metal.

All 11 GICS (Global Industry Classification Standard) sectors posted positive returns over the 12-month period, with Communication Services, Financials and Materials being the largest contributors to index returns. The worst performing sectors were Real Estate, Consumer Discretionary and Consumer Staples.

Over the period, the Canadian dollar weakened against the euro and British pound and strengthened against the U.S. dollar and Japanese yen.

The Fund’s multi-strategy structure combines complementary investment approaches. The underlying Funds are passively managed; however, the allocation decisions are actively managed, with positions altered based on relative opportunities. At the end of the year, the Fund held an overweight tactical exposure to equities with a corresponding underweight to fixed income.

As at December 31, 2025, the total net asset value of the Fund was $49.93 million, an increase of 190% since the beginning of the year. The increase is due to net contributions and net investment gain, partially offset by income distributions to unitholders.

The IRC is responsible for overseeing the Manager's decisions in situations where the Manager is faced with any present or perceived conflicts of interest, all in accordance with NI 81-107.

The IRC may also approve certain mergers between the Fund and other funds and any change of the auditor of the Fund. Subject to any corporate and securities law requirements, no securityholder approval will be obtained in such circumstances, but you will be sent a written notice at least 60 days before the effective date of any such transaction or change of auditor. In certain circumstances, securityholder approval may be required to approve certain mergers.

The IRC has four members: Stephen J. Griggs (Chair), Heather A.T. Hunter, Cecilia Mo and Steven Donald each of whom is independent of the Manager.

The IRC prepares and files a report to the securityholders each fiscal year that describes the IRC and its activities for securityholders, as well as contains a complete list of the standing instructions. These standing instructions enable the Manager to act in a particular conflict of interest matter on a continuing basis provided the Manager complies with its policies and procedures established to address that conflict of interest matter and reports periodically to the IRC on the matter. This report to the securityholders is available on the Manager's website or, at no cost, by contacting the Manager.

The compensation and other reasonable expenses of the IRC will be paid out of the assets of the Fund as well as out of the assets of the other investment funds for which the IRC may act as the independent review committee. The compensation for the IRC is an annual flat fee. Expenses of the IRC may include premiums for insurance coverage, travel expenses and reasonable out-of-pocket expenses.

The Manager is required to advise the IRC of any breach of a condition of any standing instructions. The standing instructions require, among other things, that the investment decision in respect to a related party transaction: (a) is made by the Manager free from any influence by an entity related to the Manager and without taking into account any consideration to any associate or affiliate of the Manager; (b) represents the business judgment of the Manager uninfluenced by considerations other than the best interests of the Fund; and (c) is made in compliance with the Manager's written policies and procedures. Transactions made by the Manager under the standing instructions are subsequently reviewed by the IRC to monitor compliance.

The Manager, in respect of its management of the Fund relied on IRC standing instructions regarding related party transactions as set out below:

- Paying brokerage commissions and spreads to a related party for effecting security transactions on a principal basis on behalf of the Fund;
- Investments in the securities of issuers for which a related underwriter acted as an underwriter during the distribution of such securities and the 60-day period following the completion of such distribution;
- Purchases of securities of a related party;
- Investment Advisor Monitoring and Oversight

made on the first day of each calendar year would have grown or decreased by the last day of each calendar year.

The performance information assumes that all distributions made by the Fund were reinvested in additional units of the Fund and does not take into account sales, redemption, distribution or other optional charges that would reduce returns. How the Fund has performed in the past does not necessarily indicate how the Fund will perform in the future.

YEAR-BY-YEAR RETURNS

Series F

† Series F units were not reported in 2024 as they had been in existence for less than 12 months.

ANNUAL COMPOUND RETURNS

The following table shows the Fund's historical annual compound return for the past one-year period and since inception ended on December 31 as compared to the return of a Blended Composite Index as follows:

- 69% FTSE Short Term Overall Bond Index, which measures the returns on Canadian bonds with a maturity of 5-years or less.
- 9% S&P/TSX Capped Composite Index, which measures the aggregate common share returns of Canada's largest companies.
- 10.8% S&P 500 Index, which measures the aggregate common share returns of the U.S.'s largest companies.
- 8.4% MSCI EAFE Index, which measures the aggregate returns of securities listed on exchanges in European, Australasian and Far Eastern markets.
- 2.8% MSCI Emerging Markets Index, which measures the aggregate returns of equity securities in global emerging markets.

The weightings of these indices within the Blended Composite Index represent the general weightings in the portfolio.

The individual indices that make up the Blended Composite Index are shown independently as a frame of reference only, and do not reflect the performance the Fund.

	1 year	Since Inception
MD Precision Conservative Index Portfolio – Series F	9.12%	9.70%
Blended Composite Index	9.54%	9.98%
FTSE Canada 91 Day T-Bill Index	2.84%
FTSE Canada Short Term Overall Bond Index	3.88%
S&P/TSX Capped Composite Index	31.68%
S&P 500 Index	12.35%
MSCI EAFE Index	25.70%
MSCI Emerging Markets	28.05%

* The Fund started series F units on June 7, 2024.

Management uses the Blended Composite Index as the benchmark for this portfolio because it best represents the nature of the overall fund. Although index returns are hypothetical – as they do not reflect the true cost of owning or managing the underlying securities – they are one of several useful indicators. By comparing the Fund's performance to the movements of the benchmark, we are able to assess how the Fund is doing. For example, some short-term deviations can signal the need for change while others confirm the expectations of a longer-term strategy. If management were to ascertain that a fund's over- or underperformance was the result of excessive risk-taking or deviation from the investment mandate, we would, on behalf of all our unitholders, address these issues with the Investment Advisers, and make changes if necessary.

Strong positive absolute performance was well supported by outstanding results from both fixed income and global equities over the past year. Despite its strong since inception result, the Fund slightly underperformed relative to its benchmark as a result of a tactical positioning in the first half of the year.

The increase (decrease) from operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the financial year. This table is not intended to be a reconciliation of beginning to ending net assets per unit.

Net assets per unit	$ 11.38	$ 10.54

² The management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses for the stated period (excluding commissions, withholding taxes and other portfolio transaction costs) and the Fund's proportionate share of the MER, if applicable, of exchange traded funds ("ETFs") in which the Fund has invested, expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.

⁴ The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher a fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a fund.
